324 Main Ave. N., Thief River Falls, MN 56701 • Vol. 29, No. 44

District elections set for Tuesday

Tri-County, RLF to hold special elections

The Office of the Secretary of State has been notified of special elections in Tri-County School District 2358 and Red Lake Falls School District 630.

Tri-County School District 2358
On Nov. 5, voters in Tri-County School District, District 2358, will go to the polls to decide on whether or not to renew the existing operating referendum for an additional five years. If approved, the District will continue to generate $2,476 per pupil to be put toward operating expenses of the District that it has been levying for the past four years.

The question states: "The Board of Independent School District No. 2358 (Tri-County Public Schools) has proposed to increase its general education revenue by $2,476 per pupil. This proposed referendum revenue authorization would renew the school district's existing authorization, which is scheduled to expire after taxes payable in 2020. The proposed referendum revenue authorization would be applicable for five years, beginning with taxes payable in 2021, unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by law."

By voting yes on the ballot question, voters would be voting to extend an existing property tax referendum that is scheduled to expire.

Polling places include combined polling places of: Lake Bronson Community Center, 112 Main St., Lake Bronson; Karlstad Community Center, 104 Main St. S., Karlstad; and Strandquist Community Center, 202 Main St., Strandquist.

Red Lake Falls School District 630
Red Lake Falls School District 630 will have two questions on a Nov. 5 ballot. One question is the renewal of an expiring levy. The question states that the District "has proposed to renew the School District's existing referendum revenue authorization of $1,700 per pupil, which is scheduled to expire after taxes payable in 2020. The proposed referendum revenue authorization would be applicable for five years, commencing with taxes payable in 2021, unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by law."

By voting yes on this ballot question, voters would be voting to extend an existing property tax referendum that is scheduled to expire.

The second question is a bond referendum. It asks whether "the School Board of Independent School District 630 be authorized to issue general obligation school building bonds in an amount not to exceed $8,425,000, for acquisition, betterment and equipping of school sites and facilities?"

By voting yes, voters would be voting for a property tax increase.

The polling place is open from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Red Lake Falls City Hall. Absentee and early voting takes place between Sept. 21 and Nov. 4, and can be completed at the Red Lake Falls School District office at 404 Champagne Ave., Red Lake Falls.

Torkildson hired to lead REA

Following a national search, Steve Peters, president of VenuWorks, has named Terry Torkildson as executive director in Thief River Falls.

VenuWorks recently entered into an agreement with the City of Thief River Falls to manage the Ralph Engelstad Arena, Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, Thief River Falls Tourist Park, and the Multi-Events Center. The hiring of Torkildson as the executive director is part of the transition plan prior to assuming full management Jan. 1. Torkildson officially started his new position with VenuWorks in Thief River Falls on Monday, Oct. 28.

"We are fortunate to welcome Terry to the VenuWorks team," said Peters. "Terry brings the experience and expertise needed to lead the management team in Thief River Falls. He will be an asset to VenuWorks, the local facilities, and the community of Thief River Falls."

Torkildson brings 25 years of industry experience to Thief River Falls. In his most recent role, Torkildson served as the general manager for a multi-venue complex in Sioux Falls, S.D., including a 13,000-seat

Stopping traffic

After a construction project, Fourth Street, from Atlantic to Main avenues, was expected to reopen Friday in Thief River Falls. Motorists will see some changes along Fourth Street, including four-way stops at the intersections with LaBree and Horace avenues, as well as back-in diagonal parking on some portions of the north side of Fourth Street.

New monitors in LHS Commons improve communication

Home of the Prowlers. A new 20-foot wide drop-down screen was demonstrated at Lincoln High School recently.

by David Hill
Editor

Effective communication with students, teachers, staff and the public is one of the most important goals of School District 564, Thief

River Falls. Recently, Lincoln High School started using monitors in the Commons area to scroll and display important announcements in an effort to improve communication. Lincoln High School Principal Scott Brekke said it had been included in initial plans of the 2011 referendum, but was later excluded.

Brekke didn't give up on the dream. Two years ago, he began working on a plan to put monitors in the Commons.

With the support of the technology experts at Marco, Lincoln High School and other partners in the community, that dream recently became a reality.

Four new professional grade 70-inch monitors have been installed in the Commons. The sound system has been updated, and a 20-foot drop-down screen has been added.

With a quick glance, students can now see school announcements. Brekke also noted opportunities for expanded use during community events and school activities.

Tim Vagle, technology coordinator for the District, said the system is hard wired and password protected. There are no URLs (Universal Resource Locator) or addresses out there that indicate it's for video conferencing.

The system has the capability of bluetooth connectivity, but for security reasons, it's better to keep the system hardwired. Displaying a video or announcement from another computer also works better with that direct connection.

Vagle also explained that after about a month or so of use, "ghost" images will appear on some monitors, but that won't happen with the professional-grade monitors installed at the high school.

50 years in the making

Inter-County Nursing started in 1969

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Inter-County Nursing Service is celebrating its 50th year in 2019. It began in September 1969 after Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties determined there was a need for home care and public health services. Many changes have occurred since that time, including Clearwater County's decision to provide its own services nine years later.

"The agency began mainly in home care and branched out over the years into all aspects of public health," former director Anita Cardinal wrote in a history of the agency. "Maternal/child health and health promotion was and continues to be a major component of the agency."

Inter-County Nursing also hosts blood pressure, blood sugar and foot care clinics in the communities it serves. A Pennington County commissioner suggested the latter clinic.

"Immunization and influenza clinics were a big part of the agency," wrote Cardinal. "The agency has grown over the years to include various staff members working in several programs including car seat checks, prenatal education, newborn visits, school health, emergency preparedness and working with the state immunization registry known as the Minnesota Immunization Information Connection through the Communities Caring for Children program. Staff is also involved with Quin County Community Health Services to provide assistance with the Statewide Health Improvement Project."

Emergency preparedness is another focus. To that end, the agency's work involves education, mass dispensation of medications, and assisting partners to meet those challenges.

Home health care is a large portion of its work. As a Medicare-certified home health care agency, it

Dave Doherty awarded ECIA North Star Award

The award is the Electronic Components Industry Association's highest leadership honor

Digi-Key Electronics is proud to share that its president and chief operating officer Dave Doherty has been awarded the ECIA North Star Award by the Electronic Components Industry Association (ECIA) at its annual Executive Conference in Chicago. The ECIA North Star Award is named to reflect the concept of extraordinary leadership, guidance, and perseverance within the industry. The award recognizes individuals who make significant contributions to the industry over the course of their careers, and set the standard for those who follow.

"I believe in osmosis; that if I surround myself with smart, high-quality individuals, then perhaps a little will rub off," said Doherty. "My participation in NEDA and ECIA has been osmosis on steroids, getting the chance to work with and learn from such high-quality people in the industry from the beginning. It's been a true privilege to participate in the association at the level that I have."

Doherty has served on the former NEDA board and now ECIA board since 2007. He chaired the ECIA Foundation from 2011-2015, served as the ECIA chair in 2017-2018, and currently chairs the Distribution Council. During his time on the ECIA Foundation Board, he was instrumental in guiding it through the merger and identifying a mission of promoting the value of the

Ghost towns of Kittson County
Hallock - "Kittson"

County's history shows us this area was once a bustling prairie where businesses popped up literally in the middle of nowhere. Without easy transportation to larger urban centers, pioneers often had to rely on small general stores or even postal stops to obtain the basics.

"This Halloween, take time and explore Kittson County's own ghost towns. They each have a great history and played integral parts in our ancestors' survival."

The ghost towns include Enok, Chatam, Northcote, Noyes, Caribou, Orleans, Pelan and Robbin. - Kittson County Enterprise, Oct. 30, 2019, by Anna Jauhola

Thinking about summer meals for region's kids

During a meeting Monday, Sept. 23, Cindy Sanden, food service director for School District 564, Thief River Falls, brought the Board of Education up to speed on the summer meals program. The summer meals program has been available to Thief River Falls kids since at least 2016. The fewest number of meals served during the summer, which to this program ends in the second week of August, was 52,749 meals. This past summer, the numbers were much higher. A total of 64,029 meals or about 1,000 meals per day, were served.

Sanden called it a huge success, and that she was proud to even be associated with the program.

The Summer Food Service Program is a federal nutrition program funded by the United States Department of Agriculture and administered in Minnesota by the Minnesota Department of Education. The program was established to ensure that children in low income areas continue to receive nutritious meals when school is not in session.

By now, we should all realize that good nutrition has many benefits, especially to growing children. Not only will it help children do well academically, but will help them grow, feel good about themselves, and have a tremendous impact on their health throughout adolescence and into adulthood.

All of us should also be aware of the obesity problem in America. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 25 percent of all children ages 2 to 18 years now meet the criteria for being overweight. These children are at greater risk for major health issues, such as Type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure, joint pain and much more.

I believe teaching goes beyond reading, writing and arithmetic in classrooms. Children learn from what takes place around them, their interactions with others and even from the plate of food set down in front of them.

Now, some people have issues with the fact that in regards to this program no one checks to make sure the kids come from what the government defines as "low income" families, and some people may be taking advantage of a good thing. Well, it is a good thing, and helps kids - all kids, so what's the big deal? In today's world, two-income families are a necessity. Not everyone makes it home for lunch to make sure "junior" eats a nutritious meal. It might not even be possible. I also don't know how the program could make it available only to children of low income families without potentially causing trauma to a young child or embarrassment to a family. I like the current program. It seems judgment free and in Thief River Falls, not only offers nutritious meals, but opportunities for socializing with others and exercise, because they're often located in parks.

There's one other thing I think needs mentioning. Last summer I went to the Summer Meal Site Finder at www.fns.usda.gov/summerfoodrocks to see if there were other Summer Meal Sites in northwestern Minnesota. I thought it would be nice to publish a list, which I did. I found sites in Thief River Falls, at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, on the Red Lake Nation and at Win-E-Mac. That's it. Really? There aren't any low income families in the rest of the region?

Is the absence of meal sites due to a lack of interest, a lack of volunteers, or something else? I don't want to blame anyone, so I wondered if the USDA could come up with an alternative that would work better for smaller communities. Just a thought.

Vote yes and yes on referenda

To the Editor:

Please vote "Yes" and "Yes" on Tuesday, Nov. 5 to support the Red Lake Falls School District.

The first vote gives Red Lake Falls the opportunity to renew existing operating expenses such as staff salaries, upkeep for buildings, and transportation costs.

The second vote will help make J.A. Hughes a building with adequate educational space and separation from the media center. The plan will expand and enclose each classroom. This expansion will help classrooms meet Minnesota Department of Education recommendations. A yes vote will provide a four-classroom addition to allow J.A. Hughes to become a two-section school and room for classrooms that do not currently have a space. Small class sizes help teachers meet the many needs of each and every student. Limited distractions of outside sound help students to concentrate in the classroom.

The second vote will also add a gymnasium to the school. The current gymnasium does not fill the size requirements of the MDE. Right now, the gymnasium is shared with the lunchroom. This brings many challenges for scheduling lunch and gym. A new gym will provide more time and space for the students to eat. A new space would benefit many extracurricular activities such as softball, baseball, volleyball, and basketball, along with providing a space for music performances.

Please vote yes and yes to help support us in providing a quality education for all of our students and families.

Automation is here

by Grant Nelson

It amazes me how much of life happens without the need for much of my input. It seems to me that many of the things I do are automatic.

I don't mean to say that my reactions to life are automatic as I feel engaged in life. My reactions to life are normal and healthy. It's the world's reactions to me that, more often, seem automatic.

One prevalent area of automation is the Internet of Things. The Internet of Things is a system of inter-related computing devices or machines that have unique identifiers and can transfer data over a network without human intervention. These things may include: your toaster, coffee maker, refrigerator, smart-thermostat or even your cat if you allow him/her their own iPad (Just kidding about the cat).

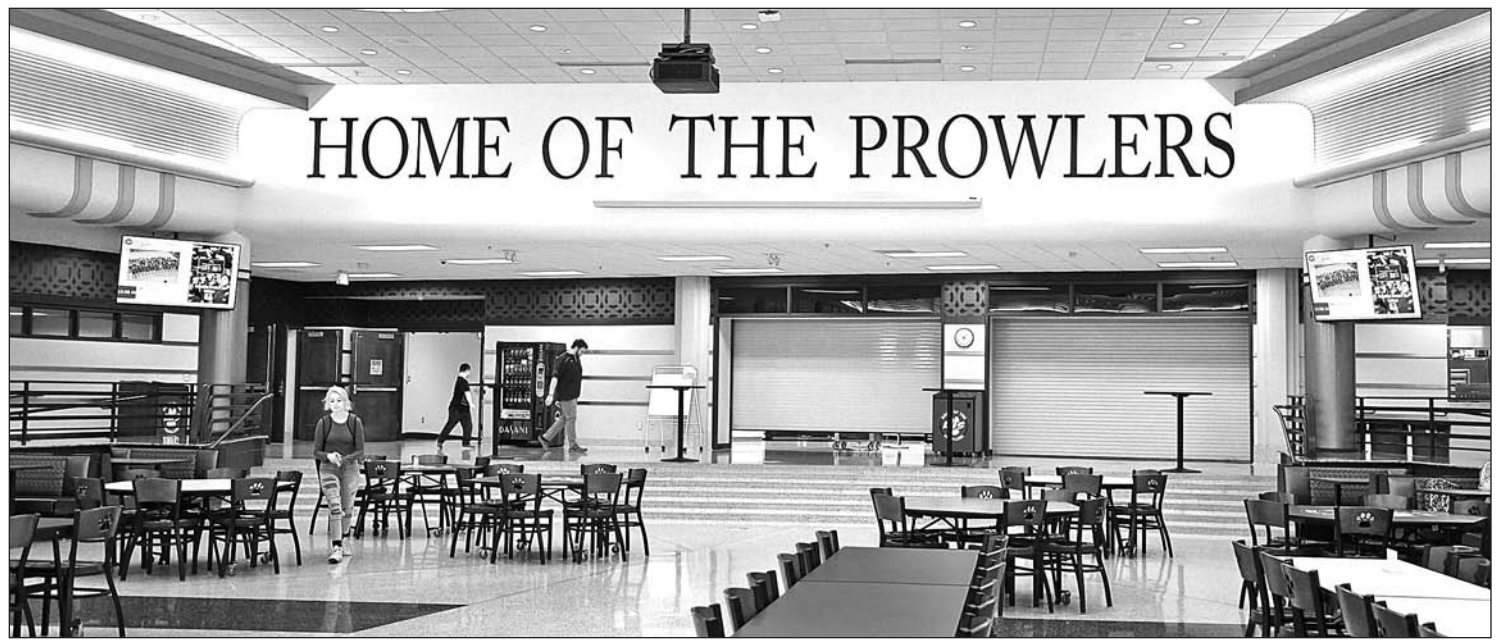

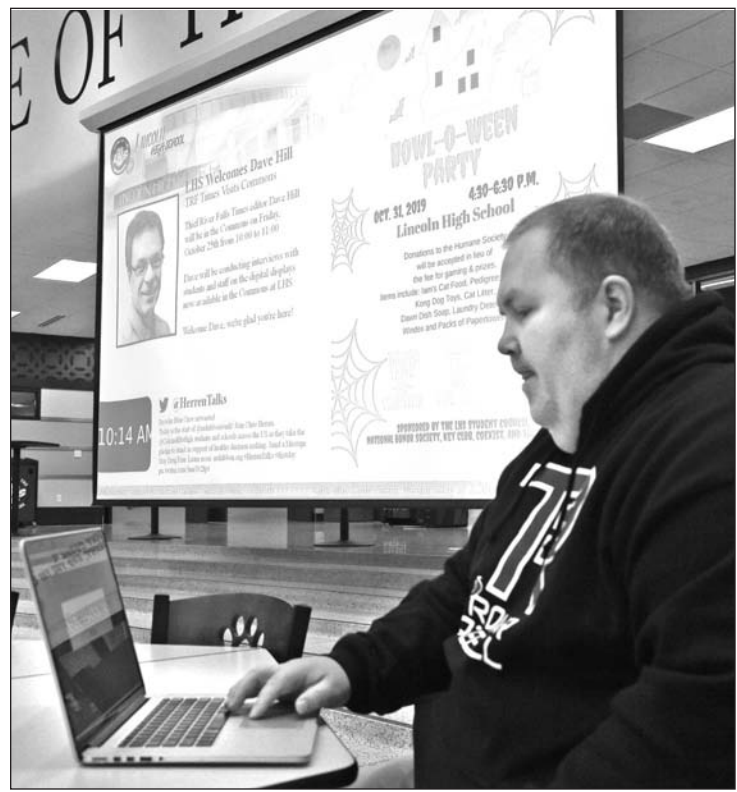

The benefit of the Internet of Things can vary from convenience, such as a refrigerator-generated grocery list to even notification of a fallen elder. I believe my watch can notify someone if I fall, however I have not tested it yet. Icy sidewalks are just around the corner so I will let you know my results as winter progresses.

We are using heated mats this winter on our deck. These mats are closely laid together and produce enough heat to melt snow. All of these mats are controlled by electric outlets connected by Wifi to our internet router. I can set these on a timer to turn on at a certain time or I can intervene and control them myself. If I allow the timer to turn them on and off, then there is no human intervention; however, if I turn them on or off remotely are they still part of the Internet of Things. I mean if you go back far enough, there is always human intervention. After all, we are the ones who intervened and created the automation.

Even my vehicle is automated, and this is a problem. The vehicle lights stay on, as a courtesy, for a few seconds after I shut off the ignition key. I typically either stand and watch the vehicle until the lights go off or go inside my destination and watch through a window until the lights turn off. The automation works fine, but I don't fully trust it. I leave the headlights in automatic mode, however I question the standards of the automation. Dusk and dawn are periods of time when lights may be appropriate, but automation may not engage them. I switch on the high beam to see if the blue light comes on and sometimes it does not. I feel betrayed and turn the lights on manually.

Maybe trust is the line that prevents automation from removing our humanity. If I trust a vending machine as much or more than a human, then automation comes down to cost. However, if I am engaged with my fellow human, I probably enjoy the experience more, trust the experience more, and then cost is not as great an issue. It also prevents the robots from taking over.

The Commons at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls now features professional-grade monitors that display important announcements.

With a few clicks of a mouse, Tim Vagle, the School District technology coordinator, creates an announcement that appears on a 20-foot wide drop-down screen that's located in the Lincoln High School Commons.

As a coach, Vagle noted how neat it would be to have the monitors greet fans and visitors as well as display team lineups.

The system has templates for events such as weather alerts, and many other activities. Its use would be useful for any major school announcement.

Brekke and Vagle said ideally, a student will be in charge of putting the announcements on the monitors.

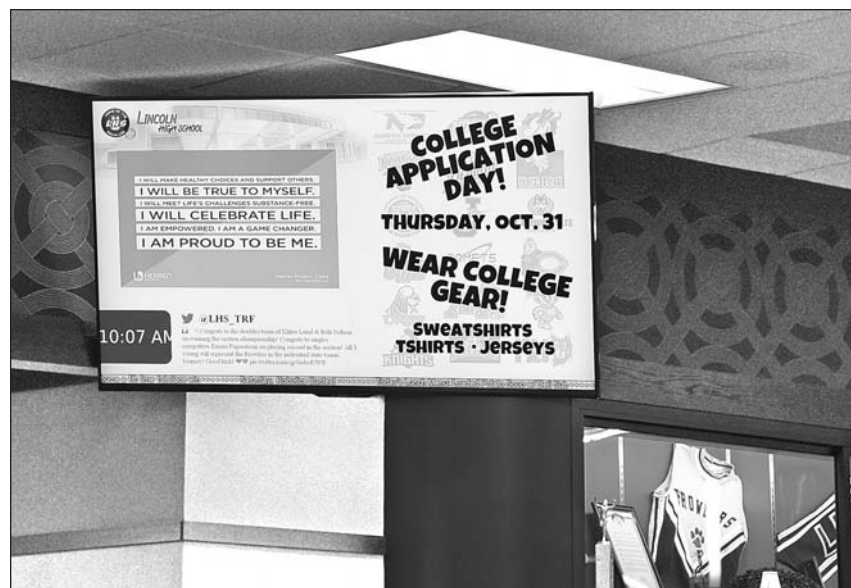

The monitors have been up in the Commons since summer, but only recently put into use. Brekke said the students seem to really like it.

In the future, it might be possible for all announcements to appear on monitors in classrooms. It might also be possible to hook up cameras to the system so that visitors to the school can see events taking place in the gym or auditorium. Brekke used a concert as an example.

The monitors and pull-down screen will also be ideal for many events taking place at the high school.

Brekke estimated the total cost of improvements at around $70,000. He has also created a plan so that in the event of things breaking down or wearing out, the impact on taxpayers would be minimal. He added that he's very appreciative of the support he's received in the community.

This is one of the new monitors in the Lincoln High School Commons. The monitor promotes activities and lists important announcements. Four new professional grade monitors and a 20-foot wide drop-down screen and improved audio system were added at the school.

"The first time I saw the Ralph Engelstad Arena and the city's other properties, I knew Thief River Falls was a community that took great pride in its public facilities. I look forward to working with VenuWorks to build upon the foundation created by the people of Thief River Falls," said Torkildson.

Mayor Brian Holmer said, "The City of Thief River Falls welcomes Terry Torkildson as executive director of the Ralph Engelstad Arena, Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, Thief River Falls Tourist Park, and the MEC Center. As an industry veteran, Terry brings a wealth of knowledge that will benefit our facilities, our partners and our community. I have no doubt he has the experience and passion to lead our facilities forward."

50 years in the making/Continued

(Continued from Page 1) provides care and support under the direction of a physician. Such care includes skilled nursing services (such as blood draws, wound care and catheter changes), specialized services (such as home IV therapy; physical, occupational and speech therapies; and wound care management), medication management, and personal care (such as bathing, dressing and meal preparation).

Inter-County Nursing has seen many changes over the years. Cardinal and her predecessor Susan Olson referred to the addition of a computer system. Cardinal noted nurses formerly wrote their notes into patient files or the secretary would type them on a typewriter and place them into the patient's file.

Staff have also encountered tightened regulations for Medicare and state programs. They are also seeing patients sooner after surgeries, such as hip replacements, than they would in the past.

One thing that hasn't changed, though, is the dedication of staff. "It was the absolute best place to work – the expertise, the dedication that the staff has is unbelievable," said Cardinal, who noted the staff are some of the finest staff in the entire world.

Olson and current Director Kayla Jore both noted the longevity of the staff. "When you have that longevity, that paints a picture of an agency that's doing well and serving a purpose," Jore said.

Inter-County Nursing is governed by a board consisting of five members from each county, including a county commissioner from each county. The board also appoints a physician. Initially, the agency was housed in offices at each county courthouse. In Red Lake County, its office moved from the top floor to the lower level. In Pennington County, its office was located for about 20 years at a Pennington County-owned building along Knight Avenue in Thief River Falls. Later, it moved back to the Pennington County Government Center, which was formerly known as the courthouse.

Annika Dalager, pictured above, won two individual North Border Conference championships and she was part of two conference champion relay teams during last week's North Border Conference Meet in Crookston. Dalager won the 50 freestyle and 100 backstroke titles, and she was part of the championship-winning medley relay and 200 freestyle relay teams.

Prowlers win fourth straight North Border swimming title

Thief River Falls won its fourth consecutive North Border Conference Swimming Championship behind four event championships Friday, Oct. 25 at Crookston High School.

"The girls swam great and came out on top with a first place win for the fourth year in a row," said Thief River Falls Head Coach Danielle Spiten. "We had some great swimmers and the girls are more excited than ever going into sections. We are really confident that we will see some great swimmers in a few weeks at the section swim meet."

Senior Annika Dalager won conference championships in both the 50 freestyle and 100 backstroke. She was also part of two conference championship relay teams – the 200 medley relay and the 200 freestyle relay.

Joining Dalager on the 200 medley relay were Maren Espe, Molly Halska and Kendal Rantanen. Joining Dalager on the 200 freestyle relay team were Rantanen, Espe and Brianna Berg.

Conference runner-up finishes were turned in by Alanah Mack in the 200 freestyle; Espe in the 200 individual medley and 100 breast stroke; Halska in the 100 butterfly; and the 400 freestyle relay team of Halska, Berg, Ava Budish and Mack.

Norskies' blueliner Kalthoff collects SIJHL Player of the Week honors

The Superior International Junior Hockey League announced Monday that Thief River Falls Norskies defenseman Connor Kalthoff has been named its Play It Again Sports Player of the Week for the period concluding Oct. 27.

In a pair of outings over the weekend, the 19-year-old blueliner from Sartell scored in both of them and helped bolster his club's back-end in two victories over the Wisconsin Lumberjacks.

After scoring once and dishing out an assist Friday, Kalthoff blasted home the game-winner late in regulation Saturday to help the Norskies complete the two-game sweep.

Since joining Thief River Falls earlier this month, he has played at a point-per-game pace with a trio of tallies while setting up five more in helping his club go 5-2-1 in that span.

Also earning consideration for player of the week honors were Josh Weber, (F) Dryden GM Ice Dogs; Reece Hopfner, (F) Fort Frances Lakers; Ryan Howe, (F) Red Lake Miners; Cody Bruchkowski, (F) Thunder Bay North Stars and Parker Brakebill, (F) Wisconsin Lumberjacks.
